About Ludo Online

You may already know that Ludo was invented in India. Because 25 was the maximum amount of points a player could receive in the game, Ludo is known in India as "Pachisi," which translates to the number "25." The Mughal rulers created it as a strategic and pleasure game. Many people mistakenly believe it to be a game of chance, but because the dice's numbers are entirely random, it's actually more of a strategy and preparation game.

Ludo today is a standard board game for two to four players. Each player has their own coloured home with four pawns in it. A player must move all of their pawns to their home and earn the most points in order to win. Online ludo games are played faster and have fewer turns available. This increases the enjoyment and excitement of the game.
